Horus reticles are revolutionizing long-range shooting by enabling shots at distances most shooters never imagined. Horus reticles are favored by top sportsmen and marksmen around the world. They make every shooter more proficient.

Unlike conventional reticles, which are mostly empty except for simple crosshairs, Horus reticles provide numerous hold points for many combinations of elevation and windage adjustments.

With a Horus reticle, zeroing your rifle is quick and easy.

In the field, you can adjust your aim simply by using the reticle. No need to turn your turret knobs.

When time is critical, exclusive Horus features such as Horus Rapid Range Bars and instant Second Shot Correction give you the edge—especially if you're engaging multiple targets.

For a list of manufacturers who sell rifle and/or spotting scopes with Horus reticles, see the other side of this card. Not all of them offer the complete line of Horus reticles.
